

Question:

My ex and I live in Alabama about 52 miles apart. He has visitation rights by court order but he will not drive the distance to get the children. The kids have not seen or heard from their father in almost 2 years. I would love for the man that I